FYI: Need to know that the Bruno camp's response is to suggest that legislative leaders and the Gov have been using the chopper for years to conduct official business with occasional political events thrown in. They say it is only a problem if the trip is exclusively political in nature

Might want to say two things in response:

First, in years past, no one claimed in writing that the trip was for ?legislative business .? That's a clear misrepresentation.

Second, Bruno's conduct stands in sharp contrast to everyone else . Gov doesn't do fundraising when using state aircraft. A review of all of his travel (with hundreds of events) shows only one political event. Should be noted that Bruno did not release his schedule information. No one knows how many more times (beyond the three trips in May) he abused the privilege afforded to him as a legislative leader. That's another reason we need an investigation .
