Subject: Private emails

Just thought of something: there are at least 2 private email addresses that show up in the chamber records (e.g., on July 5 Darren emails to himself an email to Dicker from the day before). If the investigators get smart, they ask for Darren's private emails and then others'. That'll be a rich source of info now that I think about it. We may want to get them so when know what they say. In addition, we should include in our first production letter a key adjective: "we have searched CHAMBER records and produce herewith those CHAMBER items responsive to your request."
